We are writing this letter of recommendation on behalf of Highland Community School District. On August 27, Rock in Prevention presented to the K-5 students of both the Riverside and Ainsworth elementary schools. As counselors we found the presentation to be engaging for the students and also taught them anti-bullying strategies. The music reinforced those ideas. Students in the upper grades enjoyed doing the skits and will remember participating in this activity. Jesse, Todd, and Paul modeled positive student interactions with the various age groups. The phrase "We don't do that here" has been used several times since this presentation and we, as counselors, find this to be a good way of handling bullying situations. The students positively engaged with the high school mentors as they participated in the songs and skits. We believe our students benefitted from Rock in Prevention and we would strongly consider having them present again in the future.

Thank you for sharing your message with us through songs and activities.

Yours in education,
