To whom it may concern:

I highly recommend the Rock in Prevention Rock Live Workshop and The Rock in Prevention 12 week classroom curriculum. We have been involved with Rock in Prevention for many years. The students love the Rock Live Workshop that kicks off our classroom curriculum. Our older students love coming back and volunteering as mentors. Our students always recognize several of the high school mentors which help them to connect with the message of making healthy choices. I think it also is a way to keep the High School mentors on track and connected to the message and mission of abuse prevention and bullying prevention. The mentors share and provide examples of how the younger students can grow and be successful in all areas of their lives. They are such positive role models and an important part of the program.

The use of music and interactive activities makes the workshop and the classroom lessons even more effective and enjoyable for the students and teachers. I feel that the fun, musical and interactive nature of Rock Live helps to build a positive school climate. The talented presenters keep students and teachers actively involved through the entire Rock Live Workshop.

The follow up classroom lessons/activities and the CDs make it possible for the teachers to reinforce and comprehensively address issues that are vital to developing healthy choices and reaching one's full potential.

We value the fact that Rock in Prevention is a researched based program and we plan to continue to use the services of Rock in Prevention in our school.
